The city of Hollywood in Greater Fort Lauderdale is culturally rich, eclectic and beautiful.

Sometimes, if you stand long enough on Hollywood's famed Beach Broadwalk, it feels like a symphony of languages and melodies from around the globe is melding with the ocean waves. Hollywood Beach provides miles of shoreline with plenty of diverse food, casual shopping and even a concert amphitheater for multiple weekly live music performances.

Throughout the city, you can experience high-end luxuries – like the St. Somewhere Spa at Margaritaville Hollywood Beach Resort – alongside more active attractions like Extreme Rage Paintball Park or Hollywood Beach Golf Club.

For art lovers, the city is a haven of creativity with a vibrant downtown scene of galleries, restaurants, boutiques and colorful murals along Hollywood Boulevard and the surrounding streets, and the Arts and Culture Center hosts regular interactive creative programs nearby. Enjoy outdoor live performances and food truck rallies at Young Circle, then relish the nightlife at entertainment hubs like the iconic Guitar Hotel at the Seminole Hard Rock Hotel & Casino Hollywood.

In these pages, we'll explore the places and people that make this city by the sea so memorable. Whether you are a first-time visitor searching for that quintessential South Florida experience or a local seeking some new adventures in your backyard, there's something fresh to discover in Hollywood.

THE Rundown

▲ Tati Suarez' contribution to the Downtown Hollywood Mural Project.

When the founder of the city of Hollywood, Joseph Young, came from California to South Florida in 1920, he envisioned creating a playground in the sun that would rival that other west coast city with the same name.

A hundred years later, Florida's Hollywood – where suburban living coexists with a bustling downtown – conjures a magic all its own.

A mainstay of the city's vibrant cultural scene, arthouse Cinema Paradiso offers cinephiles a variety of American independent and international films, as well as productions made by local talent, for their viewing pleasure. And on the third Saturday of each month, from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m., Downtown Hollywood and Young Circle come alive with free ArtWalk activities. Take a guided tour of the Hollywood murals, view curated gallery shows and interact with local artists while enjoying cultural entertainment and live performances.

The city is home to the headquarters of the Seminole Tribe of Florida – the Native American group whose gaming, agricultural and other ventures have evolved to develop the area's marquee attraction – Seminole Hard Rock Hotel & Casino Hollywood. Tribal amenities, including residences and communal services, remain mostly private. But you can find public facing retail outlets, entertainment venues and more along State Road 7 near the Hard Rock. Events like the Seminole Tribal Fair and Pow Wow offer a glimpse into Native American culture with features like food, drumming and alligator wrestling.

There's also an eclectic mix of outdoor celebrations in the city of Hollywood. Every November, knights and jesters invade Topeekeegee Yugnee park for the Camelot Days Medieval Festival. The city gets in a spooky mood for the Hollyweird Halloween Block Party that takes over Hollywood Boulevard. And for retro gearheads, there's the Dream Car Classic Car Show.

Perhaps today's Hollywood would have exceeded Joseph Young's wildest fantasies.

HOLLYWOOD'S

ART SPACES

Hollywood offers an impressive arts and culture scene, with two very popular areas – ArtsPark at Young Circle and Hollywood Boulevard – where you can soak in the creative energy or participate hands-on.

▲ Young Circle is the hub of Hollywood arts.

PHOTOGRAPHY: ANTHONY J. RAYBURN

YOUNG CIRCLE

Young Circle is ten acres of green space, situated squarely in the center of Downtown Hollywood. Those with young adventurers can start at the playground, which features a fun splash pad. Gaze upon elaborate sculptures on your stroll through the park, then stop by the Visual Arts Pavilion, where there is a gallery with frequently rotating free exhibits. There are also interactive activities like glass blowing demonstrations and martial arts classes to be had.

The massive amphitheater hosts regular music and other live performances, and throughout the week you can enjoy outdoor movie screenings, food trucks, rallies and art days for families or creative spirits. At the ArtsPark, find a number of classes from salsa and hip hop dance to kung fu for kids or adults.

And it is one of the only places in the country where you can see massive African baobab trees.

HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD

Hollywood Boulevard, home to some of the Downtown Hollywood Mural Project's finest creations, brings to life the city's mission of beautifying its streets with breathtaking art. You can even watch one of the regularly created new murals go up at the monthly Downtown Hollywood ArtWalk event – a sprawling outdoor art festival hosted on the third Saturday evening of each month. Visitors can enjoy live art being created, listen to music on every corner, pop in at galleries and shop for locally made goods.

On an average day, locations like Spanda Art Gallery and End to End Gallery invite you to admire exquisite works. Two blocks off the main strip is the city's Arts and Culture Center, filling the rooms of a historic mansion with a gallery, museum and event space all in one. Explore art exhibits, watch a documentary film screening or enjoy a craft creation session.

ESSENTIAL

ATTRACTIONS

The city of Hollywood – with its lush parks, stunning ocean views, artsy vibe, small, independent shops and restaurants, as well as luxury amenities – is a destination for the outdoor or culture enthusiast as well as the resort-dweller.

Enjoy a jam session at the adjacent Hollywood Beach Theatre or surf on the FlowRider – accessible to the public as a stand-alone attraction – which creates a simulated, stationary wave that you can ride inside the confines of the resort. St. Somewhere Spa offers nationally-recognized pampering and is also accessible to locals.

The signature Margaritaville restaurant serves coastal-inspired cuisine, alongside Buffett's famous cheeseburgers, with a two-story seascape to overlook. KENT

Stats: I'm a very active mother and curator. I'm a runner that loves to swim and kayak, and I'm very lucky that my career enables me to surround myself with art and creativity.

An active life: The perfect day would start off with a run along the beach, time at the Art and Culture Center, lunching with a friend on Hollywood Boulevard and some late afternoon swimming with my kids.

Where to chill: I highly recommend the Free Arts! Family Days on the third Sunday of every month. The activities are always so fun and there is something for everyone – my kids learned how to make cyanotype prints with a local artist.

Eat this, and that: For my dining recommendations, it's all about context! Is it a nice night out? Billy's Stone Crab. Am I taking the kids for a burger? Le Tub. Lunchtime with a good friend? The Greek Joint, Hotsy Totsy or The Topsy Boar. Take-out lunch on a workday? J28.

Bonus share: Hollywood has a great laid-back, colorful vibe that I liken to Santa Monica or Venice Beach in California.

Stats: I am 22 years old, Asian-American and have been a Hollywood local for almost my entire life.

Must-see spot: The Hollywood Beach Broadwalk is a must. My favorite childhood memory would be riding bicycles on the Broadwalk with my family.

Where to chill: Downtown Hollywood has blossomed with beautiful murals, art and restaurants. There are also mural tours available. I love walking or driving through the area on a Saturday night when it is bustling.

Cultural cuisine: My favorite spot to eat is Zero Degrees. They are an Asian-Hispanic fusion restaurant with a large menu of delicious coffees and teas, including milk tea boba. There is delicious elote and their popcorn chicken is just as tasty as their garlic noodles. There is also a European bakery named Chocolada that has delicious treats to-go Stats: I am 50 years old, a youthful, energetic and adventurous Chicago native and I've been a resident of Hollywood for 17 years. I'm also a business owner and I believe in doing everything – from my doctor to where I eat to where I service my car – locally to support local businesses.

The party don't stop: Even if you don't gamble, Seminole Hard Rock Hotel & Casino Hollywood is a must-do to eat or to just enjoy the unique guitar architecture. Downtown Hollywood is eclectic and unique and there's such a large variety of culinary experiences. There's also the amphitheater right outside the Margaritaville Hollywood Beach Resort if you like live entertainment and music.

Where to chill: The Anne Kolb Nature Center is nice to take a walk along the Intracoastal and see the mangroves, crabs and manatees.

Italian vegan: One of my favorite restaurants is GG's Waterfront. They have great live music and the food and ambiance are excellent. I'm also a vegan and Vannucchi Brothers Pizza on Hollywood Beach Boulevard has an amazing vegan menu with really great dishes – specifically, their vegan lasagna.

Bonus share: Hollywood is one of the most diverse areas. It's very open, it's LGBTQ+ friendly, there are many cultures and it's a family-oriented type of town.

Walk this way: A must do in Hollywood is to take a stroll on Hollywood beach's award-winning Broadwalk. It's a paved walkway with the beautiful ocean on one side and casual shops and restaurants on your other side. Wear your flip flops and enjoy your walk, morning, afternoon or evening.

Where to chill: On weekends, Yellow Green Farmers Market is a really cool place. The market has hundreds of vendor booths with fresh made foods and drinks from around the world, artisan coffees, vegan places, barbeque places, beer garden – you name it, it's there.

In the mood for Mediterranean: Shabo's in Downtown Hollywood is our favorite! It's a local chef-owned and operated Mediterranean restaurant that usually has live cocktail singers on Saturday nights. My go-to items on the menu are the combo meze platter and grilled chicken skewers.

Bonus share: Hollywood is a laid-back town. It has the best beach, restaurants and shops on the Broadwalk. Downtown Hollywood is a historic dining and entertainment district with a totally local vibe.

Putting

ACROSS HOLLYWOOD

For those who prefer to spend their sunny Hollywood days on the green, here's where you can swing those irons.

◆ Orangebrook Golf and Country Club's pristine course.

First stop is Hollywood Beach Golf Club, a striking par-70, 18-hole course that has been in business since the 1920s and still feels like stepping into vintage Florida. The course sits on a stunning 110 acres and offers challenges for every golfer. Tee off down narrow fairways, test your skills on a variety of bunkers and traps and around classic water hazards, all with lush landscapes around each curve. The clubhouse features a pro shop and some of the best burgers around.

Just a few minutes away, and operated by the same owners, Eco Golf Club is an ideal alternative for those tighter on time or looking for a slightly less daunting challenge. This nine-hole course may take half the time, but it also features plenty of the same water hazards and exciting traps as their 18-hole location. Sharp doglegs in some areas present keen obstacles to play through. Test your skills at this well kept par-32 property.

Your Hollywood golf tour shouldn't end without a day out at Orangebrook Golf and Country Club. This impressive facility has two 18-hole courses to choose from as well as a driving range for extra practice. Each course is stacked with plenty of features for golfers from novice to expert and all end with a particularly challenging hole. Champions who have played here include World Golf Hall of Fame inductee Peggy Kirk Bell and Jack Nicklaus, one of the greatest golfers of all time.

The Hollywood Beach Broadwalk.

Boasting panoramic ocean views and nearly 2.5 miles of brick walkway with eats, treats and space to roam, Hollywood Beach is a lovely place to spend the day. It is recognized as one of Florida’s most family-friendly beaches, so bring the kids for swimming, sandcastles and ice cream or get friends together for a pick up volleyball game on the sand.

Stroll down the palm tree-lined pedestrian path called the Hollywood Broadwalk with small shops and eateries on one side of you and the salty breeze from the ocean on the other. Take a seat on the wave wall separating the promenade from the shore as cyclists and rollerbladers zoom past. Further south, Margaritaville Hollywood Beach Resort offers relaxing oceanside amenities as well as action packed-activities, like their Flowrider surf simulator, accessible to both visitors and locals.

The Downtown Hollywood Mural Project is an aficionado's dream destination, featuring miles of walkable art. Buildings and walls-turned-canvas can be viewed casually when strolling around Downtown Hollywood, but the city also offers complimentary nightly guided walking tours of these towering spectacles. And, on the third Saturday of each month, ArtWalk attendees can often observe a muralist at work on his masterpiece.

Ever-evolving parts of the project launched in 2012 by the Hollywood Community Redevelopment Agency, there are nearly 30 murals scattered around the outskirts of Young Circle. Stroll down South 20th Avenue and you'll come upon vibrant pink flamingos more than 10 feet tall. Turn another corner and see a wall of enchanting mermaids from famed mural artist Tati Suarez. From nature-themed landscapes to spray painted cartoon creatures, the murals of Downtown Hollywood are diverse, awe-inspiring and highly Instagrammable. Just wear comfortable shoes!

KI SPEED

Enjoy high-velocity thrills at KI Speed. Watch the excitement from the lobby or jump in the driver's seat and take off for a round of fast fun. This indoor go-kart facility offers guests the chance to compete for the quickest lap around one of their two indoor race courses. Adrenaline junkies will love the high-performance, zero-emission electric vehicles capable of going up to 45 mph. All drivers get a briefing on safety, track rules and flag signals before the race begins. There is no age requirement, but you must be at least 48 inches tall to drive. The Pit Café offers meals for you, your family, party or corporate group. And purchase your "Speedpass," with benefits including a free birthday race, online.
